The Newark High School Alumni Association (hereafter “the Association”) allows, but does not require, Class Reunion Committees to deposit excess funds with the Association to hold until the depositing representative or one of two designated alternate representatives of the class requests the money for the purpose of holding its next event. The Association will not pay any interest to the Class Reunion Committee nor will it charge any fees for this privilege. Any of the three designated representatives of the class may request the funds from the current Treasurer of the Association at any time. Should there be any question about the intent of a requested withdrawal, the Association reserves the right to deny a request.

All depositors agree to hold the NHS Alumni Association, its Board Members, Officers and general membership harmless should funds be lost or abandoned. Should funds not be claimed within 10 years of deposit, the deposit becomes the property of the NHS Alumni Association Treasury.
